Kids' Party Begins University Christmas

• TRADITIONAL TREE-LIGHTING ceremonies conducted by Acting-President Colclough and the presentation of Handel's "Messiah" by the University Chorus and Orchestra last night in Lisner Auditorium marked the official beginning of the 1964 Holiday Season.

Other highlights of the season include a Children's Christmas Party to be held today for students from Stevens School, candlelight services Wednesday in the University Chapel, caroling in the University Hospital Thursday evening, and an Orphans' shopping tour Sunday under the organization of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Christmas Party, to be held at 2 pm today in the dining hall of the New Dorm, will feature a Santa Claus who will present gifts collected in the annual Toy Drive to the 80 children expected to attend.

Thursday's Christmas caroling at the University Hospital will start at 7 pm, and all those interested are invited to meet in front of the Student Union at 6:45 pm. Hot chocolate will be served afterwards in the Union.

The Orphans' Shopping Tour in Murphy's, to be held Sunday despite the lengthening of vacation, is open to all who wish to participate. Interested students should submit their names to Diane Alexander in the Zeta Tau Alpha box in the Student Activities Office.

Decorated Christmas windows and posters, evident all over campus for the past week, were judged on originality, promotion of Holiday Season activities, and appropriateness in keeping with the Holiday Season. Poster winners in the sorority division were Zeta Tau Alpha, Sigma Kappa and Chi Omega.

Fraternity winners were Sigma Chi, Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Nu; and independent winner was Tassels.

Colclough Grants Longer Vacation For Christmas

• ACTING PRESIDENT Oswald S. Colclough played Santa Claus last Tuesday giving the student body four extra days for Christmas vacation.

The acting-president's announcement that Saturday, Dec. 19, will be the last day of classes was conveyed to the students by their professors. Also, Student Council President Victor Clark sent a memorandum to all resident students.

Council Freshman Director Skip Gnehm stated that the Administration reached its decision because of the Student Council's request and after a careful reconsideration of a petition submitted by Morris Floyd and Craig Laiden last Nov. 13.

Gnehm contends that although the Morris-Floyd petition received 1,293 signatures, it was the lack of publicity which caused the petition to be originally refused. Floyd and Laiden failed to inform either the Student Council or the HATCHET about the petition. Gnehm pointed out that no action was taken until the Student Council got behind the drive for the extension.

Floyd and Laiden wrote the petition in early November. They showed Dean of Men Paul V. Bissell a copy of the petition before they circulated it. Bissell told them to circulate the petition and bring it back to him so he could present it to Acting-President Colclough, who later refused it.

Student Council Publicity Director Pazzaglini stated that Colclough's decision to extend the holidays was based on a combination of the Student Council's request and the petition from the dean of men.

unanimous decision in the first elimination, bringing the debaters face-to-face with Harvard's first-ranked team in the semi-finals. This time, GW took the negative side and again unanimously won, knocking Harvard out of the competition.

The final round pitted Hecla and McCune against Georgetown and its first-ranked speaker John Koeltl. GW, taking the negative, dissolved Georgetown by a four to one decision.

This victory gives the University Princeton's coveted Madison Cup, a silver bowl which will be kept permanently on display in the Debate Office in Lisner Auditorium.

Faculty Senate Committee Weighs Jakobson Report

• SUPERFICIAL STUDENT involvement in courses and inadequate outside reading in freshman subjects were two of the findings cited by Helen Jakobson, chairman of the Student Faculty Committee, in her report to the University Senate last Friday.

Mrs. Jakobson said the Senate reacted favorably to this news passed on to her group from the Student Liaison Committee headed by Sandy Wishner. This student group was consulted as part of the committee's research.

The report Friday was the result of the Senate Committee's investigation into all phases of student life, including the needs of both resident and non-residents. Its suggestions will be passed on to the administration.

In an interview for the HATCHET, Mrs. Jakobson divided the work of her committee into concern for the physical and for the spiritual needs of students.

It found facilities limited and inadequate for the non-resident to use for study and socializing on campus. Professor Peter Hill of the history department is conducting a survey of existing facilities to see how this need can be met.

A look into the medical program revealed inadequate facilities for treatment of minor ailments of dormitory students on the weekend when the health center is closed. It also found certain problems in the area of guidance for students with emotional problems. To help in this matter they are considering psychological tests for all freshmen to help spot potential problems.

On the spiritual needs of students, a suggestion of last year's committee has already been instituted. An interested faculty member has been assigned to each floor of the residence halls. Mrs. Jakobson's committee plans to look into the effectiveness of

Area Merchants Initiate Student Discount Service

• SIZEABLE DISCOUNTS from 140 area firms are now available to college students through the Washington Intercollegiate Discount Service.

Thirteen area colleges and universities are presently members of the Service, the purpose of which "is to establish an effective discount service to help students on limited budgets, and to make the community more aware of the student population," according to Judy Freeman, co-chairman of the Service's central committee.

In order to obtain his discount, a student must present his membership card and his University I. D. card.

The price for a discount card is 50 cents; accompanying the card is a booklet listing the member firms, their locations, and their offered discounts.

At GW the cards went on sale yesterday and will be on sale all this week, as well as the week following Christmas recess, in the lobby of the Student Union from 11 am to 1 pm, and from 5 pm to 6:30 pm daily.

GW Takes Princeton Debate Tournament

• UNIVERSITY DEBATE John McCune and Hugh Hecla rode over fifty other schools to win the Annual Princeton University Debate Tournament. The Tournament, held Dec. 10-12, to mark the two hundredth anniversary of the Princeton Debating Society, drew teams from every part of the country.

Hecla and McCune emerged from the three days and 11 rounds of debating as the only undefeated team, with Hecla second-ranked out of one hundred debaters and McCune fifteenth.

The final three sudden-death elimination rounds marked the high point of the meet. GW, debating affirmative, triumphed over the Harvard "B" team in a successes by Hecla and McCune a week earlier at the Georgetown University Tournament. There, the debaters finished third among 102 colleges, with Hecla third-ranked speaker among the 204 debaters. In this tournament, the team finished eight and one, with Northwestern University emerging as champion.

The Wake Forest Tournament, Dec. 9-12, again found University debaters in the winners' circle. Dion Meek and Murry Cohen captured the first place affirmative team trophy while their negative counterparts, Tom Harris and Jerry Szama, compiled a record of five wins and three losses.

Overlooking the Obvious . . .

• THE THIRTEEN STUDENT COUNCIL members who voted against the Royer activities fee proposal were probably correct in guessing that many students would demonstrate their petty and shortsighted outlook on student activities by voting in overwhelming numbers against any constitution which includes such a fee.

However, the argument that voter opposition to an activities fee would necessarily destroy the entire reorganization plan is a fallacy based on a lack of legislative imagination. It seems as though it would have occurred to a deliberative body with any acumen, especially after discussing the question in three different sessions, that the activities fee clause of the constitution could be made a separate question on the referendum. Thus, the defeat of the fee would not jeopardize the constitution, and, possibly, convincing salesmanship on the part of the advocates of the fee might result in the passage of both proposals.

Questions . . .

• ALL STUDENTS (except the ever present apathetic minority) should take the opportunity offered this week to help the Student Planning Commission in its efforts to make the University a better place for students by filling out the questionnaire which will be distributed tomorrow. (See story, page 6.)

The Commission, as the investigative arm of student government, is in a position to make practical proposals for reform based on thorough and objective study of student problems. Here is an opportunity for everybody who sits in the Student Union complaining about the faults of the University to direct these complaints into a constructive channel.

Letters to the Editors

Cohen Refutation . . .

To the Editors:

• REGARDING MURRY COHEN'S letter of last week, referring to my article of the week before, I should like to point out a few areas on which he is evidently misinformed.

He states that the Reorganization Committee, including me, will recall that it was impossible to determine the number of students living in dorms, frat houses, or off campus. He should recall that the Committee was presented with figures on May 7, which indicate that there are now between 1,675 and 1,700 undergraduate students living in dorms, and a total of 4,512 undergraduates attending the University.

Under the proposed plan to which I referred, the 1,700 dorm students—less than 38 per cent of the electorate—would have 60 per cent of the undergraduate residence representatives. If this is the "moderate imbalance" to which he refers, then I for one am relieved that Cohen has nothing to do with the decisions in the recent reapportionment cases in the country.

While some disparity must exist, I feel that the plan of the Committee comes much closer to equal representation than does that currently advocated by Mr. Cohen.

Referring to the 3 to 1 multiple representation preferred by Cohen in the present plan, he maintains that "the Committee recognized this situation," and "was further aware of the particular hardships faced by GW's 450 foreign students."

It amazes me that the Committee recognized a situation that never existed while they had anything to do with the new plan.

First, the original plan provided that everyone would vote for one resident, and one class, representative. Murry recalls, I'm sure, that the Engineers demanded their own representative (their nine semester curriculum can't be divided into four classes) to compensate for class representatives they had no voice in electing.

In all honesty, he would further recall that he and I were a minority of two who voted against the representative for "any school organizing a council . . ." at the Sept. 21 meeting of the Committee.

Further, the Committee at no time provided for a foreign student representative. The Student Council added this representative—not the committee—after removing Class Representatives while retaining an Engineers Representative.

Consequently, Cohen is misinformed in stating the Committee "recognized this situation," and he is erroneous in his contention that they "decided to act constructively . . . by granting a seat in the Assembly to a representative of foreign students."

Were I a Councilman running for Vice-President with Mr. Gnehm for President, I too would consider the votes of the Engineers and foreign students.

But I should like to think that in this purely hypothetical situation I would remember that a new Constitution provides the opportunity to represent the student body—not merely the special interests historically controlling student government.

Perhaps Mr. Cohen will remember this before the elections.

POTOMAC . . .

To the Editors:

• IT WAS MOST ADMIRABLE of last week's reviewer of the POTOMAC, B. Herman, to stem his critical flow and to proffer an analysis of the possible ways in which this publication might better attain the goals to which it hopefully aspires. This analysis is in no way detracted from by the contemptuously frivolous suggestion as to what use the current edition, save for the uncommon talents of one of its contributors, might well have been put.

But, alas, it is true: there is a direct relationship between the quantity and quality of the submissions and the final product. An increased awareness of and interest in this University's literary magazine is one of the preeminent considerations of its staff and one to which it will increasingly address itself.

Nevertheless, may I respectfully submit that, though this magazine is composed of many individual contributions, it is surely more than the sum of its parts.

Council Downs Fee Clause; Endorses D.C. Home Rule

• APPARENTLY FEARING a bloc vote against the proposed student government reorganization by the Engineering School in the upcoming constitution referendum, and student reaction in general, the Student Council last Wednesday defeated Advocate Steve Royer's activities fee motion.

The motion to include in the proposed constitution a clause giving the Student Assembly the power "to levy a student activities fee with the advice and consent of the University Board of Trustees," was defeated 13 to 1.

Discussion of the fee lasted three meetings. Activities Director Nick Bazan said, "The inclusion of this clause in the constitution will mean the defeat of the entire constitution by student referendum."

The Engineers would come out in force to defeat the constitution if the fee clause were included, according to Publicity Director Peter Pazzagli. Pazzagli added, "The power to levy a student activities fee is not something which should be included in a constitutional revision."

Following the vote which defeated his proposal, Royer commented, "By defeating this motion the Student Council has awkwardly placed itself in the position of advocating taxation without representation . . . Sooner or later, all GW students will be confronted with an arbitrary University levied activities fee, which the students did not, and will not, have a voice in determining."

In other action, the Council considered a D.C. Home Rule resolution, the Freshman Orientation report, and the organization of dormitory representatives provided for in the proposed constitution.

Edward Knappman, co-ordinator of the Liberal Education/Action Project University Development Program, and Council Secretary Linda Frost introduced a Home Rule resolution.

The resolution states that the Student Council "urges the United States Congress to enact appropriate Home Rule legislation during the present session of Congress." The Council unanimously passed the resolution.

After hearing a report on student discounts by Vice-President Rolf Russart, GW's representative to the Washington Inter-collegiate Discount Service, the Council established the price for the student discount cards at 50 cents. The cards went on sale yesterday. (See story, page 1.)

Freshman Director Skip Gnehm presented his report on freshmen orientation, along with recommendations for future orientations.

One of his major recommendations called for orientation to be set up on the days immediately prior to registration. According to Gnehm, "a changing University requires a changing program. The University has not kept up with its changing student body. It forces increasing numbers of out-of-town students to travel during the week for a ten-day orientation program that could be completed in three days."

He further cited the lack of cooperation that he received from the music department and the business office and the disinterest that the faculty and administration show in the orientation

• IN ADDITION to the regular Wednesday night meeting, the Student Council met Thursday at 5 pm, Friday at 3 pm and Sunday at 5 pm. The Council completed consideration of three articles of the referendum proposal for a new constitution. Art. I (Powers, Structure, and Functions), Art. II (Student Legislature), and Art. III (Executive Branch) were approved. Four more articles remain to be approved before the referendum is presented, presumably before Council elections in February.

program. Gnehm also asked that the budget accorded orientation be raised from $650 to $1200 which would "greatly improve orientation."

Concerning dormitory representation, the Council voted favorably on a motion by Upper-Columbian Representative Jim Rankin that, "out of every two representatives which a residence hall may be permitted to elect by the proposed constitution, at least one must be an upperclassman."

An upperclassman was defined as any student who has completed 40 credit hours or more at the University.

Library Exhibit Displays Modern Art of Honduras

• A HONDURAN ART exhibit organized by the United Fruit Company is now on display at the University Library. The exhibition, which opened on Dec. 3, is slated to continue to Dec. 23.

The exhibition consists of 33 works by 12 twentieth century Honduran artists. These pieces d'arts were first shown in New York at the Permanent Mission of Honduras to the United Nations.

After leaving the GW Library, the art exhibit will continue to New Orleans before being returned to Honduras. Some of the displays shown in the Library are as follows:

"Landscape of Santa Lucia," an oil by Carlos Guillerme Garay, is in the main lobby, and represents a typical Honduran scene. It utilizes loose, rapid technique with bright, diversified and well organized colors.

"Alicia," an oil by Juan Roman Lainez, is in room 101, and portrays a woman contemplating her thoughts. The portrait is plain and simple, using mainly green and blue.

"Girl of the Ducks," by Moises Becerra, is in room 101, and displays a new effect of colors along with unique patterns and designs. Becerra, an authority on color and semi-abstracts, studied art in Italy.

"Guitarist," by Marybeth Budenhagen, is on the second floor, and is a watercolor depicting the figure of a guitarist in black and white. The figure is surrounded by an impressive yellow background.

Art exhibitions have been arranged in the George Washington University Library since 1948 by John Russell Mason, librarian and curator of art.

Law School Trial Weighs Soldier's Plea for Divorce

• DOES ARTIFICIAL insemination without consent of the husband constitute adultery as grounds for divorce? If he were out of the country at the time his wife decided to become pregnant, what is his legal standing in court?

Senior students at the University Law School have been debating these legal questions of a hypothetical case in the annual Moot Court Competition sponsored by the Van Vleck Case Club. The final court session will be held Friday, Dec. 18 at 8 pm in the Law School, Room 10, and is free and open to the public.

The audience will see Tom Fox and Randy Ishmal defend the wife, while Craig Distelhorst and Randolph Cole argue in behalf of the husband. The four are the top speakers of 32 second- and third-year students who competed for these positions.

The case, fabricated by three members of the Case Club, involves a man who is suing his wife for divorce on grounds of adultery because she has become pregnant by artificial insemination while he was in Viet Nam with the Army.

The two teams of lawyers present the cases for the prosecution and the defense before three judges who decide which has presented the better evidence. The judges for the final round are Edward Bennett Williams, prominent attorney who has defended James Hoffa, Dave Beck and Bobby Baker; retired Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed; and Justice Charley Fahy of the U. S. Court of Appeals.

The Case Club, which organized the competition, is designed to give students experience in appeals work. This involves "thinking on your feet," since the lawyers must answer intensive questions by the judges and must be able to consistently defend their cases.

• CHRISTMAS SPIRITS POURED forth throughout this beautiful campus by the aromatic Potomac this weekend.

The Yuletide Season began on Friday with Chi Omega's Pledge Formal which was held at the Brook Farm Inn. Ed Kaine, who was with pinnate Pam Gay, was designated as Chi O's "Dirty Old Man." Jan Coletti, who dated "Cub" Massey, was displaying a new ring. It's not what you think, it was an award given her by her sorority. On hand to witness the event were Scholarship Award winner Pat Jones, with date James Van Hamilton (Heh), Hamble Orr and Bill Griffie, Linda Keighley with Jack McDonald, and Carolyn Mack who was escorted by Bob Pollock.

Kathy Mueller mused with Chip Bishop as to whether Kelly Burn's date George Lane was one of Kelly's French students. Tim Linkins, who was designated a "Dirty Old Man" didn't quite make it in the dance, got lost in the fog I guess. Jan Falls held a breakfast for the hungry Chi O's following the ball.

The Mayflower was the scene for the Pledge Formal of Kappa Alpha Theta, and quite appropriately, too. Reminding one of the old Puritans, their theme was "Prohibition." Noticed walking past the "Rent-a-Cops" with bulges in their flask pockets were Justine McClunt and date Peter Lent, Laura Dierks and Peter Gossens, and Peggy Guentert (who refused to do the monkey because "there are too many pledges watching") and Abstract John Harris. The pledges were presented through a kite-like structure resembling the KAT pin.

The "Christmas Spectacular" was held at the Phi Sigma Kappa House on Friday night. There sharing the Christmas spirits with Santa Bart were his tiny helpers Dick Duengel with date Laura Colvin, and Al Kwiecinski and Cindy Blehin. Christmas Formal Chairman Alan May, who was ostentatiously dressed in white tie and tails, presented Abul H. Farouki with the "Outstanding Phi Sig of the Year" Award while Farouki's pinnate Ann Brewton looked very proudly on.

Sandra Olsen was selected as Phi Sigma Kappa's Moonlight girl as Dave Hicks sat jealously by while all the Phi Sigs congratulated her with a kiss. Also offering congrats were past Moonlight Girls Becky Crevel, Theta Proxy Jonas Taylor, and past DG Proxy Karen Dixon. There, dancing to the music of the Red Falcons, were Fred Oeltjen, John Weatherby, Paul Hansen, Donald Burgess, and Ted Manousakis who dated, respectively, KKG President N. Pierce Broxhill and KKGs Diane Edwards, Marian Johnson, Kay Kelly, and Gretchen Coates.

Meanwhile, down the street, Sigma Chi had planned an exchange with KKG. Snowing Kappas Sue Lefter and Baby Bennett Anderson at this Ski Exchange was Dick Overguard, while Bob Meredith and Carolyn Waidle joined Bob Morzan in singing Christmas Carols, Ron Kamorski, and date Toni Hubenette joined the party as it was adjourning to the SPE House next door where an exchange with Delta Gamma was in progress. The following night the pledges of Sigma Chi took over and co-hosted a pledge party with their counterparts from the University of Maryland. Don Blalek with Sally Short, Bill Brandt, who dated Sue Gregory, and Moon Mullins with Sue Beneke stood by as Jodey Jim Rankin once again did the "Dog."

The Engineers (Before I couldn't spell it, now are one, huh!) held their annual ball on the eleventh floor of the Woodner. Candy Scherer, Theta Tau's candidate plenipotentiary, was crowned as the Engineers' Queen for 1964-65 by outgoing Queen Missy Burneston.

Pi Kappa Alpha held its annual Christmas Party on Saturday, and substituted Moose Milk for the traditional egg nog. Chuck Collette took to the microphone to sing "Hot Nuts" and other Pike Christmas Carols, while Todd Ackley, originally dateless, ended up with two escorts. They were given to him as Christmas presents by Carl Anderson and Allen Lawrence. Price Wayne Price and Mat Valuel acted as Angels that night to present the "new image" of Pi Kappa Alpha.

Also on Saturday night, Calhoun Hall held its main social event of the semester using the theme "Playboy Party." The dance was held at the Campus Club, second floor, which furnished both wine and the cuisine. Music was provided by Robert Hantcheek and his Banditos. Later in the evening Bonnie Towles, pinnate of Calhoun's President Dick Abell, drew the winning ticket in the raffle for a bottle of Canadian Club. Holder of the lucky postcard was James Hoogerwerf. The evening was considered a great success as the many cords left laden with balloons and souvenirs, and the Calhouners with bunny tails.

It has taken the AEPH's a week to recover and report their Pledge Formal held at the Sheraton Park Hotel. Chaproning the affair were familiar couples Carole Kittag and Alan Midnick, Momy Lovette and Monte Wallace, and Anita Lazar with date Stu Plotkin. Blair Hecht, who dated AEPH Proxy Paul Howowitz, stood ailed with Eileen Sussman and Peter Lee as Marsha Golden and friend "Norman" did a relay between tables.

On Sunday there was the party that didn't come off. It seems the pledges of Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon scheduled a football game with a party following, the beer to be provided by the losers. DTD pledges beat the SAE pledges 13-6, but it turned out that the vanquished team had been too confident of victory and had failed to take the precaution of buying the booze. Alas, no beer, no party. Oh, by the way, your Aunt Hester blushing admits to a faux pas. Last week, I announced the engagement of Linda Lodge and Lou Colquhori as being worth Woolworths. It seems that it is as genuine as Tiffany's, and Ronald Scheraga is to be best man.

Your Aunt Hester closes by wishing you all a Merry Christmas, and a special Happy New Year to Tom Robinson who let it be known that he doesn't want to be mentioned in this column because he is tired of being known as "gin and tonie."

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, JR., under-secretary of commerce, will discuss the Appalachian Regional Study in the second of three lectures on urban and regional development tonight at 8:30 pm in Lisner Auditorium.

Planning Commission Study To Evaluate University Ills

• ATTEMPTING TO GATHER information on the deficiencies in University publicity, information provided incoming freshmen, the advisory system and car accommodations, the Student Planning Commission is distributing approximately twelve hundred questionnaires in the Student Union today.

The Commission urges that the questionnaires be returned within 24 hours so that it can present recommendations to the Student Council before the end of the semester.

They may be returned to a box in the Student Union Lobby or to the Planning Commission, inter-fraternity or Panhellenic mail boxes in the Union Annex.

Last year a similar survey sheet was issued, but the limited response virtually negated its value.

The Office of Admissions will be a recipient of the information gleaned from the questionnaires, prepared by Richard Harrison of the Commission's Research Committee.

Joseph Y. Ruth, director of admissions, commented, "We have arrived at a point when we are forced to be more selective." The survey, by helping to present a clearer image of the University, "will cut down the number of discontented students and the amount of useless applications," Ruth continued.

Chem Professor Dies Suddenly

• JAMES W. HARKNESS, 53, professor of chemistry at the University, died of a heart attack Friday, Dec. 4, in Falls Church, Va.

Professor Harkness received his B.S. at Juniata College in Huntingdon, Pa., and his M.S. at Pennsylvania State University before coming to GW in 1946 as instructor. Taking graduate courses at Georgetown and George Washington Universities, he advanced to the rank of professor.

Professor Harkness taught General Chemistry and Quantitative Analysis at various times during his 18 years of service at the University.

He was quite active in science education oriented on a high school level. He was chairman of a division of the School Contacts Commission, Joint Board of the Washington Academy of Science, and the D. C. Council of Architectural and Engineering Societies, serving Falls Church City, Fairfax and Prince Georges counties, by providing scientist consultants for high school science activities.

He was co-author of the General Chemistry Lab Manual, and was also faculty sponsor of the University Lutheran Club.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lulu Harkness, a daughter, Joan and a son, James.

Blood Requested By Red Cross

• COLLEGE YOUTH can play a very important part in helping to alleviate a shortage of Red Cross blood supplies during the Christmas and New Year holiday period," according to Virginia R. Kirkbride, dean of women and chairman of the District of Columbia Red Cross College Relations Committee.

Human blood can only be stockpiled for a maximum of 21 days and because potential donors are preoccupied with preparation for the two holidays, there will be a shortage of blood on hand to meet demands, aggravated by the high holiday accident rate.

To help meet this critical shortage, the Washington Regional Red Cross Blood Center, located only two blocks from the University at 2005 E Street, N.W., will be open on weekdays preceding the two holidays, between 9 am and 4:45 pm, and Christmas and New Year's Eves.

Donors who are less than 21 years old must obtain a parental consent slip from any Red Cross center, have it signed by one parent or guardian, and bring the slip with them to the center.

CANDY SCHERER was crowned Engineers' Queen for 1964-65 by former Queen Missy Burnston at the annual Engineers' Ball held at the Woodner on Saturday. Miss Scherer was Theta Tau's Candidate.

Tea Honors Russian Ballet

• LENINGRAD KIROV BALLET members were guests at a tea given by the Russian Club in Lower Lisner Lounge last Saturday.

Groups of Americans and about fifty members of the Russian ballet group conversed through interpreters. Lively discussions took place over such topics as J. D. Salinger, an American author extensively read in Russia;

Russian writing, and American and Russian Art.

The dancers said that they saw their present tour of America as a way to help promote better understanding between the United States and Russia. The Ballet which gave its Washington performance Saturday night, will end its tour, which began in September, after performances in Baltimore and New York.

IFC To Discuss Greek System, Deferred Rush, Housemothers

• THE PROBLEMS and future direction of the University's Greek system will be discussed and analyzed at an open IFC meeting tomorrow at 8 pm in the Student Council meeting room of the Union Annex.

All fraternity officers have specifically been invited, but the meeting is open to anyone concerned about maintaining a responsible working relationship between the Greeks and the University community at large.

Among the scheduled topics for discussion are deferred rush, the possible requirement that each house have a housemother, and the lack of inter-fraternity communication and policing.

In addition to focusing attention on problems facing the fraternities on campus, the discussion is aimed at formulating positive programs of action.

According to Joel Shuman, president of IFC, "This organization hopes to meet its responsibility to all University students by providing a positive plan for campus improvement."

Brazilian Lawyer Leaves $60,000 to Benefit Law School

• A BEQUEST of $60,000 has been received by the University Law School from the estate of Richard P. Momsen, 1912 graduate of the Law School, who died last February.

Momsen requested in his will that $10,000 be used to raise the salaries of the Law School faculty. He wished the remainder to be used "... in favor of Brazilian lawyers who wish to take post-graduate courses at George Washington."

His special interest in Brazilian lawyers grew out of his experiences while living and practicing law in Brazil for many years.

The gift will be presented to the University in a ceremony at the Brazilian Chancery at 10 am today.

this plan to see if constructive use is being made of faculty time.

The role of faculty advisers in student organizations is to be the subject of a survey carried on with the help of the Student Liaison Committee to discover the proper role of the adviser in guiding the clubs.

Finally, it was suggested that faculty-student sports competition might increase rapport between student and the teaching staff.

The members of the committee are: Mrs. Yakobson, associate professor of Russian, chairman; Peter Hill, assistant professor of history; Jeanne Snodgrass, assistant professor of physical education; Dr. Weisberg, associate professor of political science; Paul V. Bissell, dean of men; Virginia R. Kirkbride, dean of women; and George M. Kiehl, dean of Columbian College.

In other business, Boyd Poush, representing the editorial board of the HATCHET, addressed the Senate. He urged that more information on Senate proceedings be released for publication.

The Senate also heard reports from Dr. Miller, chairman of the physical facilities committee, and by James Coberly, member of the sub-committee on retirement.

The body also unanimously approved the addition of Professor R. C. Willson to the committee on appointment, salary, and promotion policies.

Buff and VMI To Meet Jan. 2

• THE NEXT HOME game, Jan. 2, will pit the Colonials against the Virginia Military Institute team coached by 27-year-old Gary McPherson, the youngest head coach in the Southern Conference. The Keydets are defending the Southern Conference crown for the first time since they joined the Conference in 1924. In the final game of last year's tournament the Keydets defeated the Colonials 61-56 after trailing by three points at half time.

The departure of All-Southern Conference guard Bill Blair and center Bobby Watson has been keenly felt by the Keydets who have built their title defense around returning starters Joe Kruszewski (6-0), Charlie Schmaus (6-2), and Jeff Gausephol (6-4). Kruszewski is the spark plug of the club with his exceptional agility and scoring (14.8), while forwards Schmaus and Gausephol are fine shooters and rebounders.

Other returning lettermen are junior Jack Hartung (6-9) who will replace Watson at center, senior guard John Prosser (6-1), and Jim Guy (6-7), a forward who shot an exceptional 55 per cent from the floor in the 1963-64 season. Despite the loss of Blair and Watson, the Keydets have exhibited fine shooting, better balance, and a stronger bench.

On Jan. 5, the Colonials will meet the Redmen of St. John's. The Redmen, coached by Joe Lapchick, have been a national contender for many years. This year's team will be led by the McIntire brothers, Ken and Bob.

Ken is a sharpshooting guard who led the Redmen last year with a 15.9 average, while Bob (6-6), forward, was second with 14.9. Other veterans include Ken Wirell (6-5), an aggressive defensive player and a fine shooter, and Bob Duerr.

However the real star of the team may be sophomore Sonny Dove (6-8), who led the St. John's frosh to a 21-1 record. The only weakness of this club has been rebounding, but this problem may be alleviated by the addition of Dove.

Thus far this season the Redmen are undefeated and are ranked in the Top Ten of the nation in the major polls.

The West Virginia Mountaineers will meet the Colonials in the only Friday night home game of the season on Jan. 8. The return of four starters and eight lettermen to a squad which won 18 of 28 games has provided Coach George King with a well-balanced team. The only loss from last year's starting squad was leading scorer and rebounder, Tom Lowry.

The Mountaineers' backcourt will consist of playmaker Ricky Ray (6-0) and sharpshooting senior Buddy Quertinmont. Their brand of backcourt play resembles that of former West Virginia greats "Hot Rod" Hundley, Jerry West, and Rod Thorn.

The forward positions are well-manned by competent performers in senior Bill Maphis (6-4) and Marty Lentz (6-7) and juniors John Leshar (6-5) and Bill Ryczaj (6-6). All four are lettermen who have been fine shooters and capable rebounders.

The center post, which was vacated by Lowry, has been ably filled by senior Bob Camp (6-8). Junior Perry Polinsky (6-7) and sophomore Bob Benfield (6-8) have been capable replacements.

The West Virginia team has a blend of experience, depth, shooting, and rebounding. Coach King calls "consistency" his team's only major need.

Last week the Mountaineers whipped Maryland, 80-73, in overtime. Their only defeat was a 75-73 cliff hanger to The Citadel in the opening game of the season.

Dec. 18-19 the Colonials will go west for the Evansville (Indiana) Tournament. The three teams in the tourney are Evansville, Denver, and L.S.U. The Buff have the sad chore of opening against Evansville, the number one team in the nation among small colleges. L.S.U.'s team is a seasoned squad, having played against top notch Southeastern Conference foes this season. Denver must be regarded as a sleeper in the pre-tournament analysis.

If the basketball team lost to Furman last night, the squad will probably go into January with an 0-8 record.

Colonial Booters Sail Over Navy 6-0, In Dense Fog

• THE COLONIALS soccer team journeyed to the Patuxent Naval Air Base in Maryland Sunday and soundly beat Navy, 6-0.

Getting under way in bad weather, the Sailors broke through the GW defense on the opening kick-off for their only scoring threat in the first half. Making a quick goal after the Navy threat, the Buff maintained ball control the remainder of the period. The score was 4-0 as the engagement paused at intermission.

The fog-shrouded spectators saw a fired up Navy in the second half, constantly pressing the Buff defense. On several occasions luck decided the scoring as Navy near-misses shot past the Colonial goal.

Rallying in the fourth quarter the Colonials scored two more goals before the Patuxent River boys again started an offense, only to lose to the stopwatch. Scoring for the Buff were Abraham Camara 3, Victor Corumba 1, Bob Armel 1, and Faisal 1.

This was the Colonials' second straight win, having defeated AU in a scrimmage last week.

TWO POINTS FOR TEP—Harvey Shaines of Tau Epsilon Phi makes an easy layup in Sunday's intramural basketball game against Delta Tau Delta. Shaines received the ball on a fast break. TEP (1) overran DTD (1), 43-19, to give them a 2-0 record this season.

Colonials Drop 4th, 5th Straight To Citadel, William and Mary

• THE COLONIALS last week appeared to be trying to repeat their efforts of last year, when the Buff dropped five of their first six games. After being beaten by a mediocre William and Mary team, 54-44, on Tuesday, the Colonials ventured even farther into rebel land and on Saturday were nipped by the Citadel, 69-68.

The Buff got a cold reception at Williamsburg, where the fans razed the Colonials into submission. The gym at William and Mary is a direct carry over from the days when such monstrosities as the University's "Tin Tabernacle" were built.

Against the Indians the Buff played their most aggressive defensive game of the young season, and were leading, 25-20, at intermission. The second half saw the Colonials' shooting ice cold. They were able to hit on only 17 per cent of their field goal attempts and quickly lost their lead. Kenny Legins was the only Colonial to score in double figures, and Mark Clark, who was hobbled by a foot injury, tallied only two points.

Bridge Tourney . . .

• BRIDGE TOURNAMENT will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 15, at 7:30 pm on the third floor of the Student Union. Prizes and Masters Points will be awarded. The tournament is being sponsored by the recreation department.

Against the Citadel the Colonials once again blew a five-point halftime lead in losing the game. The pattern of the contest with the Bulldogs, however, was quite different from the William and Mary loss. On Saturday the Buff made good on 54 per cent of their field goal attempts, but lost the game at the foul line.

Citadel outscored the Colonials, 27-10 from the charity stripe. When Legins fouled out with five minutes to go, the Colonials rebounding corps fell to pieces, and with that the 'Dogs' opened their narrow lead. The Buff scored four points in the last minute, as they almost averted their fifth straight loss.

Rankin's Rabble

Two Roundballers Quit School

by Jim Rankin

• NOT ONLY HAVE the Colonials been losing basketball games hand over fist, but they also have been losing personnel. Steve Mikos, a sophomore who hadn't seen any action, quit the squad. Taking that as a cue, Ray Janowski, the 6'7" freshman team center, also bid the University adieu.

This leaves the Baby Buff with no "big man" as Mickey Sullivan, 6'4", is the tallest of the remaining roundballers. Frosh coach George Klein's troubles may be further compounded if certain rumors going around campus are true.

As rumor has it, a star frosh guard may transfer in February, while another player wants to get married and therefore wants more than the financial "allowance" he is now allotted.

Coach Klein's problems to date have been centered around a lack of depth. If things get much worse, he won't have five players for a starting lineup. Attention AEPI pledge class . . . the services of your horde may be needed.

Phil Aruscavage is the "Player of the Week." The blond senior has been the only Colonial to score consistently in double figures to date. For his outstanding play, Coach Bill Rinehart took away Aruscavage's car keys and admonished him for talking to his girl on the phone after 11 pm on a week night.

In analyzing the basketball team's failures, one must consider the type of offense which Coach Rinehart has evolved over the years. Obviously he relies on a fast break, but not so apparent in the fact that he needs an effective center, 6'7" or taller, to maintain some degree of equality on the defensive backboards.

Adamitis performed at center admirably in past years, but he had no replacement. When Dick Ballard proved unable to perform as expected, Coach Rinehart was forced to move Captain Kenny Legins at 6'5" from forward to center. Legins is feared throughout the conference as a forward, but is simply too short to man the post.

Another problem confronting Coach Rinehart is that the Varsity is composed of eight sophomores and five seniors. Thus he has to have a cohesive squad (indicating some degree of experience) in action, but at the same time he must give the sophs enough game time so that there won't be a complete void when this year's nucleus graduates.

The Colonials' hockey team will play Maryland on Wednesday, Dec. 15, 8 pm at the Washington Coliseum (3rd and M St. N.E.). Anyone interested in joining the team should call Steve Macintyre at 652-1523 or University extension, 565.

It's good to see Rick Duques FINALLY doing more shooting. He was six for eight from the floor against the Citadel, and took up much of the backcourt slack when Mark Clark fouled out.

The soccer team should get a round of snaps for its recent victories over Navy and American U. Those two wins mark the first time in many a year that the booters could boast of more than a one game winning streak.

A plea!!! Would anyone interested in writing hockey stories please leave his name in the HATCHET office, and his John Hancock to the cause of yellow journalism!
